ANSWER

The only gadget originally written into the James Bond movie script was the smoke screen. The other gadgets were added by the writers at the suggestions of crew members. For instance, the revolving license plate was added at the suggestion of director Guy Hamilton because he kept getting parking tickets.

NEXT QUESTION

1952 is an important year for many reasons, for instance, my birth year! It also was the first year that Bentley used a model name for their two door, aluminum, fast back version of the model "R" car. Bentley still uses that model name to this date. What was the name for that model of Bentley?
